$3 million improvement starts

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Major improvements have begun at the Wellesley Townhouses on Smith Road, just off Wayne Road in Romulus, following the approval of a $3 million Housing and Urban Development project loan.

Brian Conroy, vice president of Professional Property Services Inc., said new roofs, furnaces, security doors and windows, kitchen cabinets, refrigerators and gas stoves, are being added to the 379-unit housing group.

The townhouses were erected about 23 years ago and currently are owned by their residents. Some of the units currently are unoccupied, Conroy said.

The 1, 2 and 3-bedroom housing units are owned by the non-profit Wellesley Townhouse Cooperative Inc. It has a five-member board of directors headed by Mary Danko.

Conroy expects the renovations to the ranch style homes and 2-story townhouses should be completed by June 1993.

Persons interested in joining the co-operative may contact Esther Thomas, site manager, at 729-3328.

The monthly cost to reside in the co-op housing ranges from $353 to $418, Conroy said.

The Professional Property Services Inc. management group also operates the 110-unit Birch Run unit in Romulus and the 267-unit Hickory Hollow in Wayne, Conroy said.

Romulus bank robbed 2nd time this month

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

For the second time this month, a lone armed bandit has robbed the National Bank of Detroit branch on Ecorse Road in Romulus.

Police report a bandit wearing a nylon mask strolled up to bank manager Gary Face, displayed a chrome-plated pistol and demanded money.

The gunman pushed Face over toward a teller and directed that she surrender the contents of her drawer.

Police said after the money was surrendered, the bandit stuffed it into his pockets and fled out of the bank. The Federal Bureau of Investigation has entered the probe for the gunman.

Police described the suspect as a black male, between 5 feet 8 inches and 5 feet 10 inches tall and having a slim build. He reportedly was wearing a blue ski mask bearing the New York Football Giants logo, brown jacket and black gym shoes.

Romulus police said a similar holdup occurred at the same branch about two weeks before.

Airport growth program expected to begin soon

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus businessmen and homeowners should be breathing a sigh of relief following the announcement last Friday that Metro Airport growth projects "remain in a go pattern."

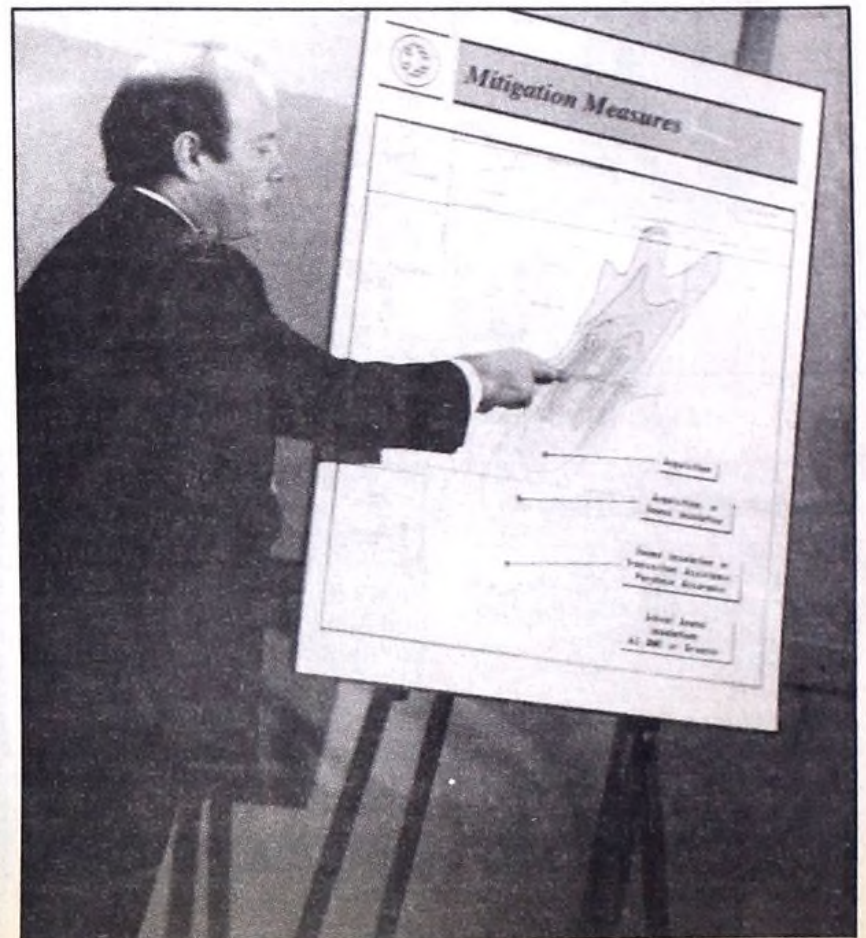

But ironically, no Romulus city or chamber officials were on hand to hear the press briefing and no official city statement has been issued.

Apparently the press conference invitations were sent by facsimile to Romulus officials late Thursday, less than 24 hours before the 10:30 a.m. session at the Marriott Hotel, about the same time they were sent out to the area press.

Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara and top aides visited Metro Airport to announce to a small gathering that a $750 million growth project would begin soon.

Immediately following the Christmas holiday travel season this year, McNamara said, the Metro Airport parking deck will be demolished in preparation for the construction of a $40 million parking facility that will rival any in the nation.

McNamara stressed international travel is becoming increasingly important in the world business scene, and Wayne County must offer ever increasing airport opportunities.

Some in the western Wayne area felt the announcement was made primarily to kill rumors that cash-strapped Northwest Airlines might force a postponement or halt completely some of the earlier airport growth proposals.

Humble Romulus hero dies

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Six months ago Bennett Daniel Dugan, 64, had a heart-warming meeting in North Carolina, with a man whose life he had saved 43 years earlier in Romulus.

On July 9, 1949, Dugan, saved the life of 2-year-old Paul Bauer, after the tot had accidentally fallen into a water-filled crock in his family's back yard.

Dugan, a young Michigan Bell phone installer, initially had been called to the Bauer home, to disconnect Rev. Kenneth Bauer's phone in preparation for a family move.

Just as Dugan arrived however, Bauer found his son apparently drowning in the family rain barrel. He could only see his young son's small feet sticking up out of the water.

He recalled that Dugan quickly snatched the lifeless form out of his arms and for 10 long minutes applied artificial resuscitation efforts until young Paul breathed again.

For his life saving action, Dugan was awarded The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. Theodore N. Vail Medal of Honor award, named after the founder of AT&T.

But it wasn't until this June that Bauer, now 45, could personally thank his hero for extending his life.

Dugan received a surprise phone call from Bauer's wife last summer. Then Dugan and his wife, Genevieve, opted to drive 14 hours to visit the Bauers for a reunion that gained media coverage in North Carolina.

(Tragically since that reunion Dugan has died. Dugan was one of the more than a half dozen Michigan deer hunters, who died of various causes the first week of deer season this year).

In a June interview with the Courier-Tribune in Seagrave, N.C., Bauer said, "You know, I was grateful as a kid and everything, but not like it hits me now."

"Everytime I think about how many blessings I have in this life, with my wife and children, my home and everything else. If it wasn't for this man, I'd never have known what this life was all about."

But Dugan, the quiet hero, said humbly, "Something else took over that day (in 1949)—there really wasn't that much to it—it's just a thing that happens in your life and you react to it."

Dugan claimed his phone company training in first aid had become a reflex and he was just glad he knew what to do.

At the warm emotional reunion in North Carolina this summer, Bauer told the press

Bennett Dugan

as he sat admiringly next to his rescuer, "We've definitely got something most people don't have—a special bond and that can't change."

Despite his humility, Dugan's name had a habit of popping up in the press ever since his days at Romulus Senior High School.

In 1946, his photo appeared with other county-wide sports stars in the Detroit Sun Times. The caption called him one of the "greatest athletes...who will earn 16 letters before he graduates," at Romulus High School.

He was captain of the basketball team, quarterback of the football squad, shortstop in baseball and also was a pole-vaulter.

Funeral services for Dugan, who died on Nov. 17 after suffering a heart attack, were at Crane Funeral Home with Rev. J.D. Landis, pastor of the Community United Methodist Church, officiating. Interment was in Romulus Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife, Genevieve I. (Renke); 2 sons, Daniel Ray Dugan of Gregory and Robert P. Dugan of New Boston; 2 daughters, Mrs. Dale (Patricia) Twitchell and Mrs. Matthew (Sharon) Raftary, both of Romulus; 2 brothers, Harold of Belleville and Gerald of Romeo; and 3 grandchildren.

Besides being a Michigan Bell Telephone employee for 35 years and a former Romulus volunteer fireman, Mr. Dugan also was a past president of the Romulus Jaycees, president of the Austin Hunting Club of Atlanta and chairman of the Charlie Lau Memorial Committee.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Bag your leaves, residents asked

Romulus city residents are being asked to bag their leaves, rather than rake them into the streets this year, according to Public Works Director James Panos.

Raking them into the streets can cause health or safety problems, Panos said. Children love to jump into piles of leaves, which can become a traffic hazard, and even smaller leaf piles can block water runoffs from reaching sewers during the fall rainstorms.

At the present time, Romulus does not own equipment that can pick up heavy amounts of leaves.

"Our current equipment jams if we try such an effort," he said.

Panos and Mayor Beverly McAnally recently viewed a leaf pickup machine demonstration as a prelude to a future purchase.

In the next year or two, the city expects to purchase such a unit, if economics permit it. But, in the mean time, Panos urges "please bag your leaves and place them out with your regular garbage."

Gunman robs video store

Two men, their faces covered with bandanas, robbed the clerk at the Romulus Video Fox store on Wayne Road on Sunday night.

The 17-year-old woman victim said two black men, one armed with a shotgun, demanded the store's receipts be placed in a plastic bag.

"Put all the loot in there and hurry up," the clerk was told. After she complied, the pair fled the scene.

Holiday decoration contest announced

An outdoor home Christmas holiday season decoration contest is now being sponsored by the city of Romulus Beautification Committee.

Nomination entries should be sent to Julie A. Wojtylko, chairperson, at the Romulus City Hall, before Dec. 7. Nominations also may be called to 942-7537 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Top winners will be awarded: $50 for first place; $25 for second place and $10 for third place.

Romulus High gains support

Highland Park Superintendent of Schools Eldon L. Martin revealed recently that he supports the efforts of Romulus schools to join the newly organized Mega-League.

"I read with great interest your intent to pursue the Michigan Mega Conference refusal to admit Romulus High School," he wrote to Dr. William Bedell, Romulus Schools Superintendent on Nov. 4.

"I agree with you completely and share your concerns. Highland Park was similarly excluded. I applaud your effort to redress an exclusionary act that can only preserve athletic apartheid."

Slaughter talk on Cable soon

Ohio youth motivational speaker Mike Slaughter, who spoke to Romulus Senior High School students in October, will appear on Romulus Cablevision at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 3. Slaughter's appearance was sponsored by the Community United Methodist Church.

Christmas Tree lights tour planned

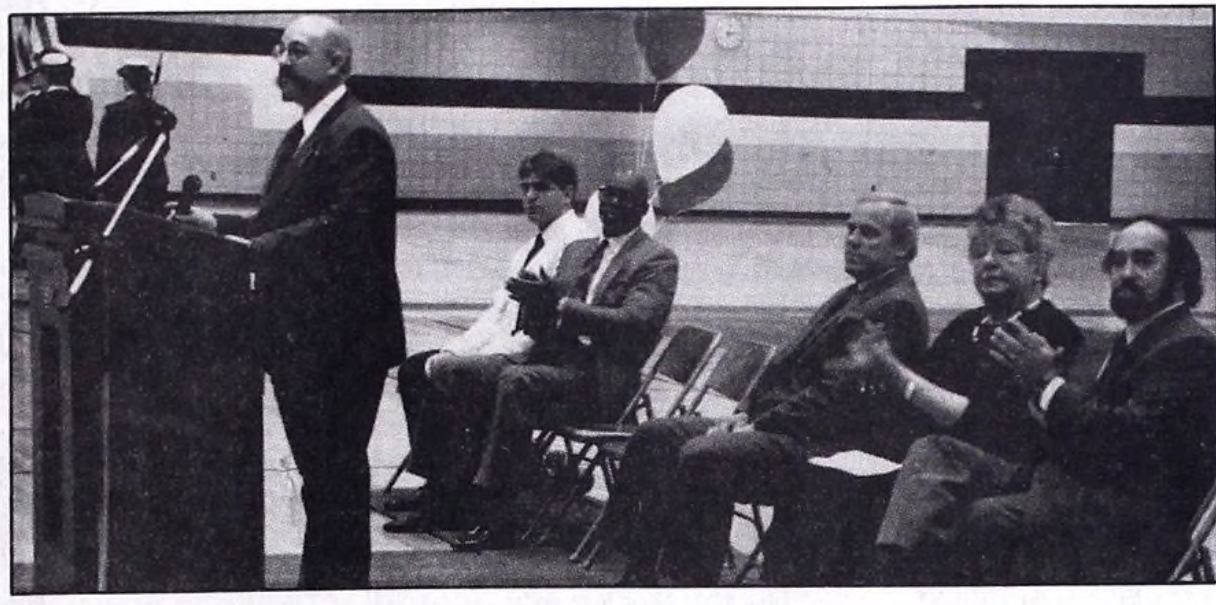

The annual bus tour of the Christmas tree lighting displays throughout the city of Romulus will be conducted on Dec. 11.

The bus will leave City Hall at 6 p.m. sharp and will return about 9 p.m.

Admission is free, but participants are urged to call the Romulus Recreation Department (942-6852) to reserve a seat.

Beware it can be blues season

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

It is that time of year to be aware of potential depression syndromes in teens, senior citizens and others who tend to be lonely for extended periods of the day.

Thanksgiving Day kicks off the hectic push to the Christmas and New Years holidays, warned Doug Plant, clinical supervisor at the Romulus Help Center, and with it the frantic rush to make sure everyone is feeling merry on Christmas Day.

But in our rush, Plant explained, sometimes we fail to see the person, either close to us or on the fringe of our life cycle, who is beginning to strain with seasonal depression.

"Without getting into politics, this year's holiday season does not offer many economical differences from 1991," Plant said. "So it is important that we remind all in our extended family to be wary of their holiday budget spending cycle."

"It is amazing today children ages 4 and up already feel the economic pinch of their families during the holiday and share the guilt and blame if Christmas doesn't live up to expectations," Plant said.

"We all need to be extra tolerant around the holidays," Plant said, "particularly with grandparents who sometimes only are given family notice a day or two a year."

Plant urged that even if the retired persons in our extended families who are living alone or in nursing homes do not have much money to spend on gifts, they should not be eliminated from the shopping scene.

"Make an effort to take them to an area mall at a time it is not too crowded or one of the many Christmas time activities, so they too can have a taste of the holiday scene," he said.

"Urge younger members of your families to start limited cost Christmas traditions that can build up in years to come," Plant urged.

Also be aware that many individuals are impacted by weather conditions. "With so little sun shining recently, an increased amount of depression is apparent. To eliminate some of the apparent gloom turn up the lights in your home or office to add to the environmental brightness," he said.

In addition, Plant urged, "Take more walks or outdoor trips to breathe in fresh air. It will help eliminate early cabin fever."

"As always, talk to your children," Plant said, "and don't over act if your child does not wrap a massive hug around you during the holiday season. "If need be around the holidays give your children a little more leeway, but keep them aware of time and space limits or boundaries."

- Relocating a current airport drain on the west side, the addition of another drain and the expansion of a pond.

- Construction of a new 25-gate midfield international terminal and apron.

- Renovation of the North Terminal Complex.

Plans also call for $7 million to be spent on soundproofing six area schools including Merriam Elementary School in Romulus, as well as Hayti School in Romulus, Peoples Community Baptist Elementary School in Westland and Miller and St. Stevens Elementary Schools in Huron Township.

Wayne County is also allocating $11 million to purchase approximately 150 homes in Romulus.

Another $54 million is being set aside for the purchase or sound insulation of 520 homes in Romulus and 160 in Huron Township.

Another $28 million will be used to soundproof or purchase another listing of homes: 370 in Westland, 890 in Romulus and 440 Huron Township.

A $2.5 million noise computer with 25-30 microphones also will be installed in various parts of the county to monitor noise.

And finally a $9.7 million study is planned to include the selection of future ground noise control technology, including future runway configurations affecting levels of aircraft noise.

Citizen demands federal effort

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus resident took a night off work Monday, he said, to press for a city request for federal funds to upgrade Goddard Road, between Huron River Drive and Wayne Road.

Keith Sylvester of Romulus said the roadway area is in poor shape and area residents feel that federal funds should be applied for repair costs.

Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks admitted the section of Goddard Road "was not one of our better roads."

Mayor Beverly McAnally told Sylvester that the road project would be among those for which Romulus would seek assistance from the federal government, but stressed there was no guarantee that such assistance would be extended.

"If citizens in that area want to petition and help pay for the project, that is different and could be the quickest way to resolve the issue. There just is not enough Tax Increment Finance Authority funds available for it," McAnally said.

Sylvester, who explained he had called and written to many city and area officials on the issue, said he feels that, "People would much rather see federal funds correct the problem. We feel we have paid for those federal funds and don't feel it should require local taxes again."

Sylvester complained that his property taxes continue to rise and yet nothing seems to be done with Goddard Road.

McAnally retorted, "Look at the breakdown on your tax bill, you will see it is not your city taxes that are on the increase."

Sylvester repeated, "My property taxes continue to rise..."

McAnally had sought to confer with Department of Public Works Director James Panos on the issue, but found he had already left City Hall.

Sylvester demanded to be informed by mail when the city of Romulus had officially applied for such federal funding for Goddard Road repairs.

Coach request nixed

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A request to add an assistant basketball coach to the Romulus Athletic Department roster to initiate a freshman basketball squad was soundly rejected on economic grounds Monday night by the Romulus School Board.

Superintendent Dr. William Bedell had reported that interest was high in the sport at the high school and urged that a third male basketball squad be added.

Bedell said the high student interest level was passed on to him by Principal Tom Dolan and Basketball Coach Chris Malloy.

Bedell listed the budget costs at $2,706.

However the the board unanimously opposed the request, 7-0, because of budget limitations and the need to keep a balance between academic and athletic options.

Safety tips offered

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus Fire Department is extending the following tips to area residents to hopefully ensure safe holiday celebrations throughout the city.

The tips include:

- Avoid using ordinary household extension cords for Christmas lighting. If extra outlets are needed, residents are urged to use a plug strip with an internal circuit breaker for protection.

- When using a cut live tree, make sure that the end is re-cut so it will start taking water immediately and not begin to dry out. If you notice that the tree isn't taking water any more, it is time to dispose of it.

- When decorating a live tree, use low wattage lights so the tree won't dry out prematurely. Pine needles will start to fall when the tree is dry.

- Do not leave your holiday tree lights on while you are sleeping or not at home.

- Check your smoke detector to make sure that it operates correctly. If you have not changed your battery recently, make sure it is done before putting up your tree decorations.

Helping needy

Toys, gifts and warm mittens for needy families in Romulus are being hung or placed under the Goodfellows Christmas Tree this year in the office of Mayor Beverly McAnally. Donations may be made from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday until Dec. 18. McAnally aided by Chrissy Brabow, a co-op student working in McAnally's office, are shown arranging some of the gifts already donated. ANP photo by Ken Garner timing of the announcement was a result of two recent Federal Aviation Administration rulings:

- Permanent flight patterns that substantially cut noise pollution in communities north of the airport.

- Permission to allow a $3 airplane passenger surcharge to be collected at Metro Airport on planes leaving the Romulus area.

Duggan admitted he will be extremely busy during the next two weeks making 15 presentations in the affected areas on the growth proposals.

The public may receive additional answers at those briefings.

McNamara explained that Metro Airport needs to greatly increase its number of airport gateways, now at six. "That compares to 12 already at O'Hare Airport in Chicago and that number will jump soon to 21," McNamara said. In addition massive new airports have recently been opened in Pittsburgh and Cleveland and will greatly help their local economies, he said.

McNamara said Metro Airport currently offers 55,000 airport jobs and that number will grow by more than 20,000 by the end of the decade.

Inkster Mayor Edward Bivens Jr. attended the press briefings and said he would like to have some of those jobs offered to Inkster residents. Wayne Mayor Ken Warfield was the only other local mayor seen at the press conference, even though the project would impact numerous other communities in the western Wayne area.

Some of the key elements in the announced $750 million airport project include:

- The construction of the 10,000 foot fourth parallel runway.

Walkers collect record donations

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

When 248 walkers gathered for the 10th annual Church World Service (CWS) Crop Walk last month, a 9-year-old asthmatic child, an arthritis woman and a 70-year-old couple were among the group.

"They were just a few of the spirited crowd who walked the 10 kilometers from Community United Methodist Church in Romulus to Trinity Episcopal Church in Belleville," said the Rev. John Hagan, Crop Walk coordinator. "Each walker solicited pledges per kilometer.

One walker, a Romulus high school teacher, collected $1,1315 for his efforts."

Top pledge collector for 1992 is Lance Knudsen, a math and chemistry teacher at Romulus High School. He collected pledges from 90 staff members and employees in the high school to earn his record-breaking total.

"Three years ago, I signed up for the Crop Walk when the principal challenged the National Honor Society to participate. As their sponsor, I knew that if they walked, I'd have to walk, too," Knudsen said. "I took my pledge card around the school, and I collected about $300 in pledges.

Knudsen said school staff members are used to helping out worthy causes and they responded well to the Crop Walk pledge requests.

"The second year, I took my list and expanded it a bit with more people, and collected about $700," Knudsen said. "This year, my list got longer and I signed up more pledges."

Knudsen said about 30 Romulus High School students participated in the 1992 Crop Walk.

"People seemed more aware of the need this year. They asked me where the money would be going, and I told them that some of it funds community projects, while other money is sent to aid Hurricane Andrew victims in Florida and help the needy in Africa," Knudsen said. "It's important to know that the donations help those in need in our own community as well as those in other areas."

Seven area churches participated in the Crop Walk: Community and St. Aloysius Roman Catholic Church in Romulus, and Trinity, First United Methodist, Belleville Presbyterian, Faith United Methodist and St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church, all of Belleville.

"One fourth of the monies collected will be split among four area agencies that assist the hungry: Helping Hand of Romulus, Wayne Metro food pantry, St. Vincent de Paul of Belleville and the Belleville Emergency Food Closet," Father Hagan said. "Each of these area program will receive more than $1,000 from the 1992 collection. More than $12,000 will be sent to direct food assistance and self-help programs through Church World Service in Michigan, Florida, Africa and Asia."

Father Hagan noted that despite the economic downturn, volunteers collected more money in donations than any other year.

"In the past 10 years, the Belleville-Romulus Crop Walk has collected almost $70,000 to feed the hungry and is just one of 120 Crop Walks throughout Michigan. In 1991, the CWS collected more than $1.6 million to assist the hungry locally and throughout the world," the coordinator said.

The organizers of the annual event are already planning the 1993 Crop Walk.

Criminal charges under consideration

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

The 16-year-old driver of the car in which 17-year-old Melissa Thompson died last week may face criminal charges in the incident, according to Westland police officials.

Information regarding the incident has been referred to the Wayne County Prosecutor's office seeking a warrant charging Brian Morrison in the death of Melissa Thompson, Westland police officials confirmed.

Miss Thompson, 17, was killed when the car in which she was a passenger collided head-on with another vehicle on Newburgh Road between Cherry Hill Road and the railroad tracks more than a week ago.

Although the car belonged to Miss Thompson, a Wayne resident, she was sitting in the passenger seat of the vehicle which was driven by Morrison, police said.

Police submitted the details of the accident to the prosecutor's office and are waiting to learn if Morrison will be charged and what the charges may be.

"I have not heard from the prosecutor's office," said officer Steve Frazer of the Westland Police Department Traffic Bureau. "With a case like this one, he could be charged with negligent homicide."

"Since Brian is only 16, he falls under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court," Frazer said Monday afternoon.

The two teens, who attended John Glenn High School, were traveling home from school when Morrison allegedly tried to pass other vehicles heading southbound when he ran out of roadway, according to police.

After he hit the gravel, Morrison swerved the Geo Prizm back onto the pavement and into oncoming traffic heading northbound, police said. The car struck a pickup truck driven by 41-year-old Dennis Edwards of Westland. Edwards is listed in critical condition at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor, Frazer said. He sustained internal injuries and was removed from life support last Thursday.

At the time of the accident, police believe, Morrison was traveling at a high-rate of speed.

"He was traveling at about 60 mph," Frazer said. "The speed limit is 40 mph. I have a witness who told me that he was going 45 mph when Brian passed him."

If he is charged and convicted of negligent homicide, Morrison could face a maximum penalty of two years in jail, Frazer said.

"If he was an adult and he was prosecuted to the fullest, he would be incarcerated," Frazer said.

The charges make this already tragic situation more tragic, according to Frazer.

"In my opinion this was just bad judgment," Frazer said. "There were no drugs or alcohol involved."

"But now I am the voice for (Melissa) -- the deceased," Frazer added. "If she had been wearing her seatbelt she would have been here today."

"She might have had a couple broken legs, but she would still be alive," Frazer said. "The way that car buckled after the impact, the seats were intact, the doors billowed out and she would have been protected by a seatbelt."

Frazer emphasized the need for people riding or driving in cars to wear their seatbelts.

"If Brian had been wearing his seatbelt, he would have been in better shape," Frazer added.

He expects to hear from the prosecutor's office before the end of the week.

Tuesday morning, Morrison was still hospitalized at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

Belleville woman finds lost family

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

With the aid of the Belleville Enterprise, an adopted woman has found her biological mother and two brothers.

Bonnie Jean Halferty, who was born in Belleville, launched her search for her family with a visit to the newspaper office. Her husband, George, presented the skimpy details of her origin to the city editor and a story was written about the search. The only information that the Halfertys had about her family was that she was born on Jan. 1, 1952, in Belleville, and the surname, "Dennis" was listed on her birth certificate.

Shortly after the publication of the story, Belleville City Clerk Agnes Frisch called the newspaper office saying that the woman's birth certificate was on file, and she could request it from the city. The editor called Halferty at her Union City home and relayed the information.

Later, Halferty wrote to the editor, stating that she had found her mother with a single phone call to Dowagiac, Mich., and located her two brothers, one older and one younger, shortly after.

"I was reunited with my birth mother on Oct. 4, and I do look a little like her. Our meeting was cordial and we ended the one-and-one-half hour visit with a hug and a promise to meet again," Halferty wrote.

"Don't feel so sorry for me, however, because the couple who adopted me in the late-1950s, Sheldon and Nina Dunks, were just about the best parents a kid could get," she wrote. "These two are Mom and Dad to me because they raised me, were there for me, corrected me, loved me and cared for me. I will always be grateful to them for what they did, and still continue to do for me to this day."

Halferty describes herself as the luckiest of the siblings because her adopted parents cared for each other and were mature enough to handle the demands of raising a child.

"Yes. I was the luckiest," Halferty said in her letter to the Enterprise editor.

WAYNE-WESTLAND COMMUNITY SCHOOLS

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Wayne-Westland Community Schools financial picture strengthened in 1991-92. With a net operating increase of $3.1 million dollars in the General Operating fund, the school district had a fund equity of almost $6.9 million dollars for the year ended 1991-92. This equity, being approximately 8% of the total operating expenditures, shows the school district to be in good financial condition.

School programs were reinstated in 1991-92 after a year of budget reductions. This was due to the successful millage passage in June, 1991. Projections for 1992-93 continue to show the district to be financially strong. The upcoming property tax proposals and future millage renewal loom as important issues for the future financial outlook of the district.

Local legislator loses bid for top party post

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

State Rep. Greg Pitoniak, D-Taylor, lost his bid to climb into the second highest Democratic House position in Lansing on Wednesday, shortly after Detroit Rep. Curtis Hertel was selected to the top party post.

While losing a four-way battle for the Democrats' floor chairman post was "personally disappointing," Pitoniak said, the winners in the leadership battles in both parties are strong progressive persons. "No ill will was stirred in any of the party leadership contests," he said.

Because of the 55-55 party tie in the Michigan House, Hertel will battle and ultimately negotiate with Republican Speaker of the House possibility Paul Hillegonds for party control of the lower house.

Since party control of the House may not be decided until mid-December following the string of re-counts planned by losing state representative candidates, even the length of the current "Lame Duck" state legislative session is in doubt, according to Pitoniak, who will begin representing Romulus when the 1993 session begins.

The only possible major legislative action that could occur during the current session would be tax reform, Pitoniak said, and now that even looks doubtful.

State Rep. James Kosteva, currently representing Romulus, is part of the 12-member committee working on tax reform in the House.

Insiders claim that Gov. John Engler, faced with possible Republican control of both houses next year and up for reelection in two years, most likely will not sign any such tax change until 1993, when he can have a heavy voice in that tax change plan.

The entire make-up of the House structure remains murky, Pitoniak said, and could get even cloudier since two state senators won election to Congress on Nov. 3 and obviously current state representatives will vie to fill those upper House spots leaving their House seats vacant if elected.

Since one senator from each party was elected, Pitoniak said, Engler could wield extra political clout since he is under no directive to call for special elections for those seats at the same time.

The two new Michigan congressmen-elect are current state Sen. Nick Smith (R-Addison) of the 19th District and Sen. James Barcia (D-Bay City) of the 34th District.

"When a seat opened in safely Democratic Detroit early this year, Engler never called for a special election until the regular election this fall," Pitoniak said, and thus the Democratic winner hardly warms the seat during this session.

Pitoniak said it wouldn't be too surprising to see Engler pull a similar move, if political control of the House remains in jeopardy.

"But the bottom line is that the House Speaker post must be filled soon...even if it is jointly held by members of both parties," Pitoniak said, "since the Speaker conducts the day-to-day business in the lower house."

"The best move to end the latest gridlock episode here would be a negotiated settlement between Hertel and Hillegonds," Pitoniak said.

"The party that fills the Speaker's chair takes on added importance now," Pitoniak said, "because the speaker will decide who will be chairman of many important House committees."

If the Democrats somehow win control of the House, Pitoniak feels that because of his seniority he should easily earn a key committee chairmanship, he said.

Recycling center accepting local refuse

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

Recycling is in our futures, whether we like it or not. By the year 2000 state laws are expected to require 50 percent of the waste produced in Michigan to be recycled, and every community over 10,000 will have to offer curbside recycling service.

BFI, the second largest waste-hauling firm in the world, has jumped feet first into the recycling business with their Arbor Hills waste management facility in Salem Township. Locally the location accepts recyclables and solid waste from Wayne and Belleville. Some 82 counties have the option of utilizing the Five Mile and Napier Road site until landfill capacity is reached in 2019.

The 900-acre spot was purchased from the Holloway trucking company in 1987. The area includes a solid waste landfill, a tire and wood shedder, 78 methane gas wells (landfill by-products), a 10-acre compost site, plus the material recovery facility, or MRF (affectionately called "Murf").

This is a very unique facility. For a major waste company to build a recycling center, at very little profit, is a real change just from 10 years ago. Most companies wouldn't dream of anything but landfilling, but we've determined that recycling is what people want and what the government is going to require.

The MRF is a great source of pride for the firm. It's a modern 50,000-square-foot building set up to process plastics, paper, tin and glass where they are separated, sorted, crushed, baled and transported to companies that reprocess the materials.

"This is a very unique facility," BFI representative Christi Clark said. "For a major waste company to build a recycling center, at very little profit, is a real change just from 10 years ago. Most companies wouldn't dream of anything but landfilling, but we've determined that recycling is what people want and what the government is going to require. It's the way of the future."

Clark said the MRF is currently running at 15-percent capacity.

"We still have plenty of room," she said.

Clark added that Arbor Hills will landfill medical waste under a new stipulation. "Everything (medical waste) we handle," she said, "will be pre-treated before it gets buried. We take every necessary precaution."

Arbor Hills will soon offer an educational facility and accompanying natural trails through woods and wetland grounds for schools interested in bringing children to the site, Clark added.

"Children must learn about recycling," she said. "The earth depends on it."

Insurance plans draw concern

Opposition to Proposal D, the auto insurance reform package, is viewed as a rejection of the plan to eliminate lifetime medical benefits.

Proposal D was defeated with 62 percent of the voters casting their votes against the proposal and 38 percent supporting it.

"Michigan residents will strongly oppose any efforts to reduce the lifetime medical benefits that all motorists in our state get with their automobile insurance policies," said Gaylord Walker, executive director of Michigan Head Injury Alliance. "Legislators will hopefully pay attention, because voters have sent a clear mandate to them: Don't cut the medical benefits in our auto insurance policies."

Walker said Michigan rates are $20 a year below the national average.

"The bottom line of Proposal D was that the voters took the time to read the fine print," Walker said. "Clearly, voters have sent the message that they do not want to shift responsibility of caring for the catastrophically injured from the insurance companies to the state taxpayer. In addition, voters understood that Proposal D would have permitted drunk and negligent drivers to be on the road without liability insurance."

Walker said that the Michigan Deserve Better Coalition, of which MHIA is a member, will be watching the new legislature as it tackles the auto insurance reform issue.

"The Michigan voters have sent a clear mandate. They want our lawmakers to protect the auto insurance law that provides the nation's best coverage at costs below the national average."

Police defend seat belt use

The Department of Michigan State Police has issued a warning regarding a recent tabloid television program broadcast in September.

Police claim that the Sept. 10 segment of Street Stories falsely charged that safety belts may come unbuckled during a crash, a phenomenon known as inertial unlatching. Not only was the segment misleading and inaccurate, according to a police spokesman, it was based entirely on information provided by lawyers who have a strong financial interest in promoting product liability suits against automobile manufacturers.

As background information, the spokesman said, Street Stories demonstrated that striking the back of a safety belt with a hard object may cause it to release, something that has been known for 20 years. However, CBS failed to acknowledge that not one entity in highway safety — government, industry or the private sector — knows of any scientific evidence that inertial unlatching is a real world problem that occurs in crashes, the spokesman said.

Prior to the show, letters were sent to CBS cautioning the network not to sacrifice the factors for a sensationalized segment that would mislead the public into thinking their belts were unsafe, the spokesman for the state police continued. Not surprisingly, he said, none of the letter elicited a response from the network, nor did the letters have any apparent impact on ensuring the accuracy of the story that was broadcast.

Instead, he said, CBS totally disregarded the facts and relied on the accusations of trial lawyers who make their living suing automobile companies. The show was a blatant attempt by CBS to increase ratings by scaring viewers, all the while ignoring the scientific data supporting safety belts.

Viewer who stop wearing safety belts because of what they saw on Street Stories could suffer serious or fatal injuries.

Sentencing closes 'Fantasia' case

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

The last of the seven defendants involved in the Walt Disney Fantasia videotape theft in Wayne were sentenced Nov. 9 before U.S. District Judge Patrick Duggan.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation conducted the probe of the $1.7 million worth of videotapes which were stolen Oct. 23 at the Vidco Express Inc. warehouse at Van Born and Venoy roads.

A $50,000 reward was offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons involved with the incident, according to Hank Glaspie, FBI spokesman.

"Vidco had a contract to distribute the 49,000 videotapes of Fantasia which were scheduled to reach the general market by Nov. 1, 1991," Glaspie said. "There was a trailer which was assigned to house the videotapes that were to be sent to Cincinnati, Ohio. An individual representing a trucking company went to Vidco and produced identification stating he was in charge of the trailer."

The trailer was released to the suspect at that time. FBI officials later located the trailer abandoned in Detroit. All the videotapes had been removed.

The individuals sentenced included Martin Kelly, 65 from Pleasant Ridge, Mich. (received 10 months in jail); James Walton, 34 from Cleveland, Ohio (received 24 months custody and was ordered to pay $45,000 restitution; Joseph Maida, 53 from New Jersey (received 15 months custody and was ordered to pay $160,000); Richard Daitch, 60 from Canton, Mass. (received 12 months in jail and was ordered to pay $144,760); William Osborne, 49 from Waterford Mich. (received 12 months and was ordered to pay $31,000); Richard Lobdell, 34 from Taylor, Mich. (received 10 months and was ordered to pay $1,000; Robert Rau, 34 from Redford, Mich. (received 10 months and was ordered to pay $2,000).

The defendants each pleaded guilty to a conspiracy to transport stolen property interstate, according to Jennifer M. Granholm, assistant U.S. attorney.

"Mr. Walton was the security director at VidCo warehouse in Wayne," Granholm said. "Mr. Lobdell was the driver of the truck that picked up the stolen videotapes from VidCo.

"Mr. Rau was the dispatcher of Lobdell's truck. Mr. Kelly arranged for a Detroit warehouse to be available where the stolen videotapes were taken."

Osborne arranged the logistics of the theft, according to Granholm, and Maida purchased the tapes and sold them to Daitch who, in turn, sold them to other distributors.

"The tapes were ultimately purchased by Waxworks, Inc., from Owensboro, Ky. for $563,199.50," Granholm said. "Waxworks was not charged as a defendant in the case."

Wayne police officers were called to VidCo about 5:30 p.m. Oct. 23. A total of 48,600 of the videotapes were the standard video which sells for $24.99. The other 400 were the deluxe video packages that included a program and a lithograph and sell for $99.99.

up beautification, site restoration and historical preservation in Michigan has a new group of supporters.

The Westland Firefighters Public Awareness Committee recently donated to KMB to help educate the public.

After reading about KMB, the firefighters decided to donate to the organization to help the group with clean up programs and beautification awards.

Winter heating bill aid available

With winter just around the corner, senior citizens and people with low incomes should check into "Be Winter Wise" programs to ensure against utility service shutoffs.

The Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) is encouraging senior citizens, unemployed and low-income utility customers to enroll in "Be Winter Wise" programs in their communities. If faced with heating bills this winter that they cannot pay, customers should contact their utility company immediately to sign up for the Winter Protection Plan, Home Heating Credit, other bill payment assistance and energy conservation programs.

Now embarking on the ninth year, the winter public awareness campaign has a new look and a strong message to reflect the changes in assistance programs.

Because of continued reductions in funding for heating assistance programs, it is critical that customers conserve energy and sign up for protection programs as soon as possible. All state regulated utility companies will offer assistance and/or shutoff protection this winter.

In addition, low-income renters and homeowners may be eligible for Michigan Home Heating Credit and could receive more than $200 to help pay for heat this winter. Qualifying citizens will be eligible to receive shutoff protection by participating in the Winter Protection Plan. Eligibility details and forms are available from participating utility company offices.

The following services are available:

- Winter Protection Plan for low-income and senior citizens. To qualify, one must be 65 or older, receive Department of Social Services (DSS) cash assistance, receive Food Stamps or Medicaid or have a low household income.

- Home Heating Credit for more than $200. To qualify one must have a low income, receive public assistance or be unemployed.

- Heating and Electric Assistance for those receiving aid from the Michigan Department of Social Services.
- State Emergency Relief Program for low-income households. To obtain aid, one must apply at the local DSS office.

Tie one on Sober driving promoted

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

The expression, "tie one on," is taking on a new meaning with law enforcement agencies tying red ribbons on their vehicles to remind drivers not to drink and drive.

"Patrol cars will display red ribbons throughout until Jan. 1," said Van Buren Township Public Safety Director Mark Perkins. "In addition, we will make ribbons available to the public at the administrative offices of the Department of Public Safety."

Other area departments are also participating in the program, Perkins said.

The red ribbons are part of a statewide effort to promote sober driving awareness and to reduce alcohol- and drug-related traffic accidents. The safety symbol reminds drivers to promise not to drink and drive and only "tie one on" for safety. The ribbons also remind others to be alcohol-free when they get behind the wheel.

"Ribbons can be tied to the antenna or outside mirror of a vehicle," Perkins said.

The campaign was launched seven years ago by Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD).

During the 1991 holiday season in Michigan, fewer people were killed in alcohol-related crashes than the previous year. However, alcohol continues to be overrepresented in the fatal crashes, according to law enforcement agencies.

For additional information on the Red Ribbon campaign, interested individuals may call 517-631-MADD.

Let's talk family values

Boy am I steamed. I mean, I am cheesed off. Big time.

Somebody ought to take those overzealous, unthinking, inhumane, cretin photographers who lured Socks off the grounds of the Arkansas governor's mansion with catnip and just slap them right upside their empty heads.

For those who may not know, Socks is Chelsea Clinton's cat. If you have been living under a rock, or work the hours I do, it may be necessary to tell you that Chelsea's father is the president-elect of these United States. The photographers to whom I refer danced themselves off to a pet store, purchased catnip and then enticed this 12-year-old girl's cat off the family property so they could photograph the innocent creature from every angle. They picked the cat up, turned it every way but loose and took photographs suitable in some cases only for Playcat magazine, or perhaps veterinary studies of animal husbandry.

Now, hear this. I did not vote for Mr. Clinton. Of course, I did not vote for Mr. Bush either, but I think I would be just as outraged if these cro-magnon cameramen descended on Millie or Ranger. Could we draw the line somewhere, please?

And, frankly, I will say that my respect for Mr. Clinton increased when I heard his response to the incident. His memo to the press corps left nothing to the imagination and made it very clear that no such further invasion of his daughter's privacy would be tolerated.

It also left no doubt that he is man who loves his child and would take on the national press corps to protect her.

He said, "From the highest authority. Do not ever touch the cat again."

That just about says it all, don't you think?

Our new president put up with just about every other invasion of his privacy with stoicism. The investigation of his every act since birth was tolerated as was the gossip, innuendo and speculation. He withstood the allegations from one woman who claimed to be his long-time mistress and several who alleged to have known him in the Biblical sense, along with Elvis and aliens who fathered their children during trips to Jupiter.

But, when it came to his daughter and her cat, the man drew the line.

So would I.

Maybe, just maybe I was wrong about him after all.

And these will be just like catnip for you.

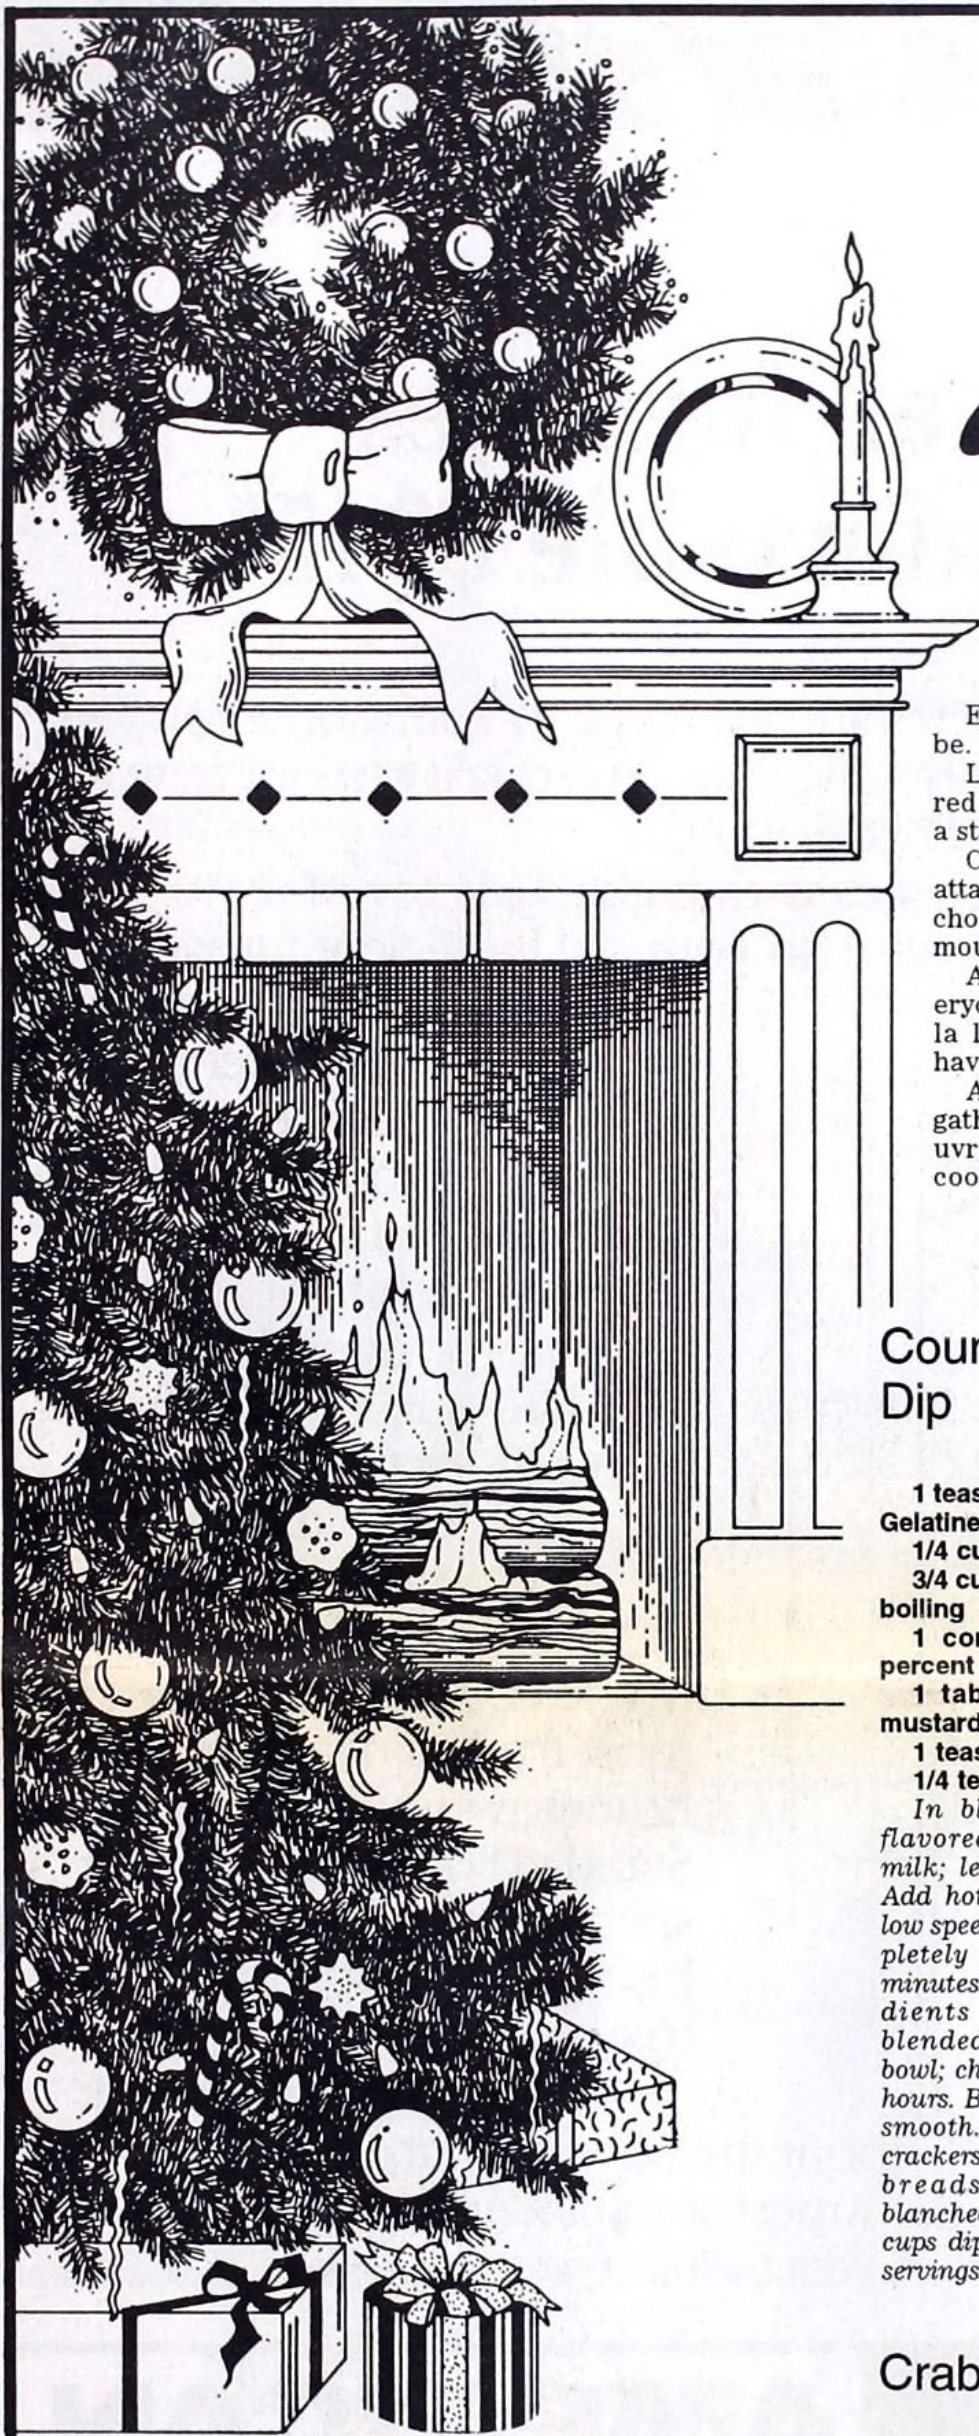

Coquina Cookies

3 egg whites
1 teaspoon cider vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 cup almonds, ground
1 cup mini-chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 300 degrees. In a large mixing bowl with an electric mixer, whip egg whites, cider vinegar, and salt until foamy. Add sugar, a tablespoon at a time, until stiff peaks form. With a spoon or spatula, fold in almonds and chips. Using a teaspoon, drop cookies onto an ungreased cookie sheet.

Bake for 40 to 45 minutes, or until golden brown and firm to touch. When cool, cookies can be frosted with melted chocolate and pistachios.

Enjoy.

Creamy Shrimp Spread

1 envelope Knox Unflavored Gelatine

1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon Dijon-style prepared mustard
2 tablespoons snipped fresh dill (optional)
Mixed salad greens (optional)

In small saucepan, sprinkle unflavored gelatine over milk; let stand one minute. Stir over low heat until gelatine is completely dissolved, about three minutes.

In large bowl, with wire whisk, thoroughly blend gelatine mixture, yogurt and mayonnaise. Stir in remaining ingredients except salad greens. Turn into 4-cup bowl or mold. Chill until firm, about three hours. Unmold onto salad greens. Serve, if desired, on crackers or cocktail bread. Makes 4 cups spread or 32 (2 tablespoon) servings.

Salmon Party Spread

1/2 cup cold water
1 cup boiling water
1 container (16-ounce) low-fat plain yogurt
3/4 cup Wish-Bone Lite Thousand Island Dressing
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 can (15 1/2 ounce) salmon, drained and flaked
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon dill weed (optional)

In large bowl, sprinkle unflavored gelatine over cold water; let stand one minute. Add boiling water and stir until gelatine is completely dissolved. With wire whisk or rotary beater, blend in yogurt, lite dressing and lemon juice. Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into a 6-cup mold or bowl and chill until firm. Makes 5 1/2 cups spread or 44 (2-tablespoon) servings.

Foods to 'Diet' For Entertaining isn't quite what it used to be.

Let's see. George and Marion don't eat red meat, Phyllis is diabetic and Garry is on a strict no fat diet.

Claude isn't touching salt since his heart attack and Mary Louise counts the grams of cholesterol in everything she puts into her mouth.

Al and Claudia are always reminding everyone of how much better the food is in lala land and Marie, Delores and Juanita have been on a diet since 1979.

And you thought a simple little holiday gathering would be easy. A few hors'doeuvres, a little wine, some egg nog and cookies and the evening would be complete. Fat chance.

These days, hostesses need to be every bit as concerned with the dietary restrictions and concerns of guests as they do with providing wonderful food and drink. Occasionally, the two just don't cooperate.

But take heart, there are some wonderful new recipes which allow considerate hostesses to offer foods to their guests with dietary restrictions which will taste every bit as wonderful to those who are less than concerned with the fat, calories, sugar or salt content.

Here are a few recipes for appetizers which will meet the needs of just about every dietary restriction. And, they taste good. You're welcome.

Country Herb Dip

1 teaspoon Knox unflavored Gelatine
1/4 cup cold skim milk
3/4 cup skim milk, heated to boiling
1 container (8 ounces) 1 percent milkfat cottage cheese
1 tablespoon Dijon-style mustard or horseradish
1 teaspoon fresh dill
1/4 teaspoon salt

In blender, sprinkle unflavored gelatine over cold milk; let stand two minutes. Add hot milk and process at low speed until gelatine is completely dissolved, about two minutes. Add remaining ingredients and process until blended. Pour into serving bowl; chill until set, about two hours. Before serving, stir until smooth. Serve with assorted crackers, bread sticks, cocktail breads or your favorite blanched vegetables. Makes 2 cups dip or 16 (2 tablespoon) servings.

1 can (16 ounces) lite peaches, drained (reserve juice)
1 package (8 ounce) lite cream cheese, softened

8-inch prepared graham cracker crust

In blender, sprinkle unflavored gelatine over cold water. Let stand two minutes. Meanwhile, in small saucepan, bring reserved juice to a boil. Add hot juice to blender and process at low speed until is completely dissolved, about two minutes. Add peaches, reserved juice, cream cheese and Equal; process at high speed until blended. Pour into prepared crust; chill until firm, about three hours. Garnish, if desired, with additional peaches and mint leaves. Makes 10 servings.

In large bowl, sprinkle unflavored gelatine over 1 cup cold juice. Let stand 1 minute. Add hot juice and stir until gelatine is completely dissolved, about 5 minutes. Stir in remaining 2 cups cold juice and remaining ingredients. Pour into 5 1/2-cup ring mold or bowl; chill until firm, about 4 hours. To serve, unmold and fill, if desired, with salad greens and favorite cut-up fresh vegetables. Makes 10 (1/2-cup) servings.

1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
12 ounces fresh crabmeat (imitation can be used)
1/3 cup finely chopped green onions
1/3 cup finely chopped red pepper

In small saucepan, sprinkle unflavored gelatine over cold water; let stand one minute. Stir over low heat until gelatine is completely dissolved, about three minutes.

In medium bowl, combine milk with bread crumbs. Stir in yogurt, mayonnaise, mustard and Worcestershire sauce until well-blended. Slowly drizzle in gelatine mixture, stirring constantly until blended. Fold in remaining ingredients. Pour into a 4-cup terrine mold or regular loaf pan and chill until firm, about 3 hours. Serve with cocktail bread or assorted fresh vegetables. Make 4 cups or 32 (2 tablespoon) servings.

Luscious Dream Pie

Area cooks nearly overwhelm judges

Well, we asked for it.

But we really never expected the response to our first Christmas Cookie Contest to be quite as extensive as it was. We got exactly what we asked for. Cookies. Hundreds of dozens of cookies.

We had chocolate, butter, walnuts and jelly filled cookies. We had oatmeal, spritz, and shortbread. We got chocolate chip, the ultimate chocolate chip and peanut butter. Actually, there were only a few kinds we didn't get, and don't ask us to name them because we're too tired from all this chewing and munching.

Yes, it was a dirty job, but somebody had to do it. We munched, we sampled and we judged. Then we fought. It may have been all that sugar, we're not quite sure. We just know we've never enjoyed our job quite as much as we did this week when so many nice people showed up at our office bringing us these wonderful treats.

And wonderful just barely describes it. Should anyone ask, there are some great cooks in this area and they know no bounds of age or sex. One of our favorite cookies was delivered by a young man who had baked his apron off in an effort to win the $100 gift certificate at Labadies.

We're still not sure of the top award winner and we've had four days to judge. We keep arguing among ourselves as to our favorites. One thing we've learned, however, is that there are as many favorite Christmas cookies as there are cooks.

We would like to thank every cook who took the time and made the effort to enter. We think you are all winners. And if anybody thinks choosing the top three cookies from the acre and a half of entries we received is easy, let them come and try it.

Recipes for the winners and for our favorites will be published in a special Cookie Cookbook section next week, and we'll continue to print the recipes entered until we've used them all. These are much too good to keep secret.

And, while we are waddling about the newsroom, there isn't one of us who regrets one single bite.

Thanks again, to each of our entrants.

We can't wait for next year.

Weather

predictions unclear

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

If you want to believe naturalist Glenn Dent, the coming winter will be a repeat of last year - relatively mild and not much snow. However, if you want a prediction right from the horse's mouth, Leilani Babcock's horses are growing heavy coats - an indication of cold weather.

The Old Farmer's Almanac indicates warmer than normal temperatures from November through March and above normal precipitation for the same period. Warm spells will be interspersed with brief cold snaps and moderately heavy precipitation may prevail through January, according to the 201-year-old weather prognosticator.

"Not only do the horses have thick coats, but they started to grow them earlier than usual. The seven horses here got pretty furry even before Indian summer," said Babcock, who operates Winterlong Stables in Sumpter Township.

"Personally, I think we'll have a cold winter, but not a lot of snow. It will be off and on with cold weather followed by thaws," Babcock said.

Glenn Dent, who has been a naturalist at Oakwoods Metropark for 18 years, doesn't claim to be a weather prophet, but he believes the winter of 1992-93 will be about the same as last year.

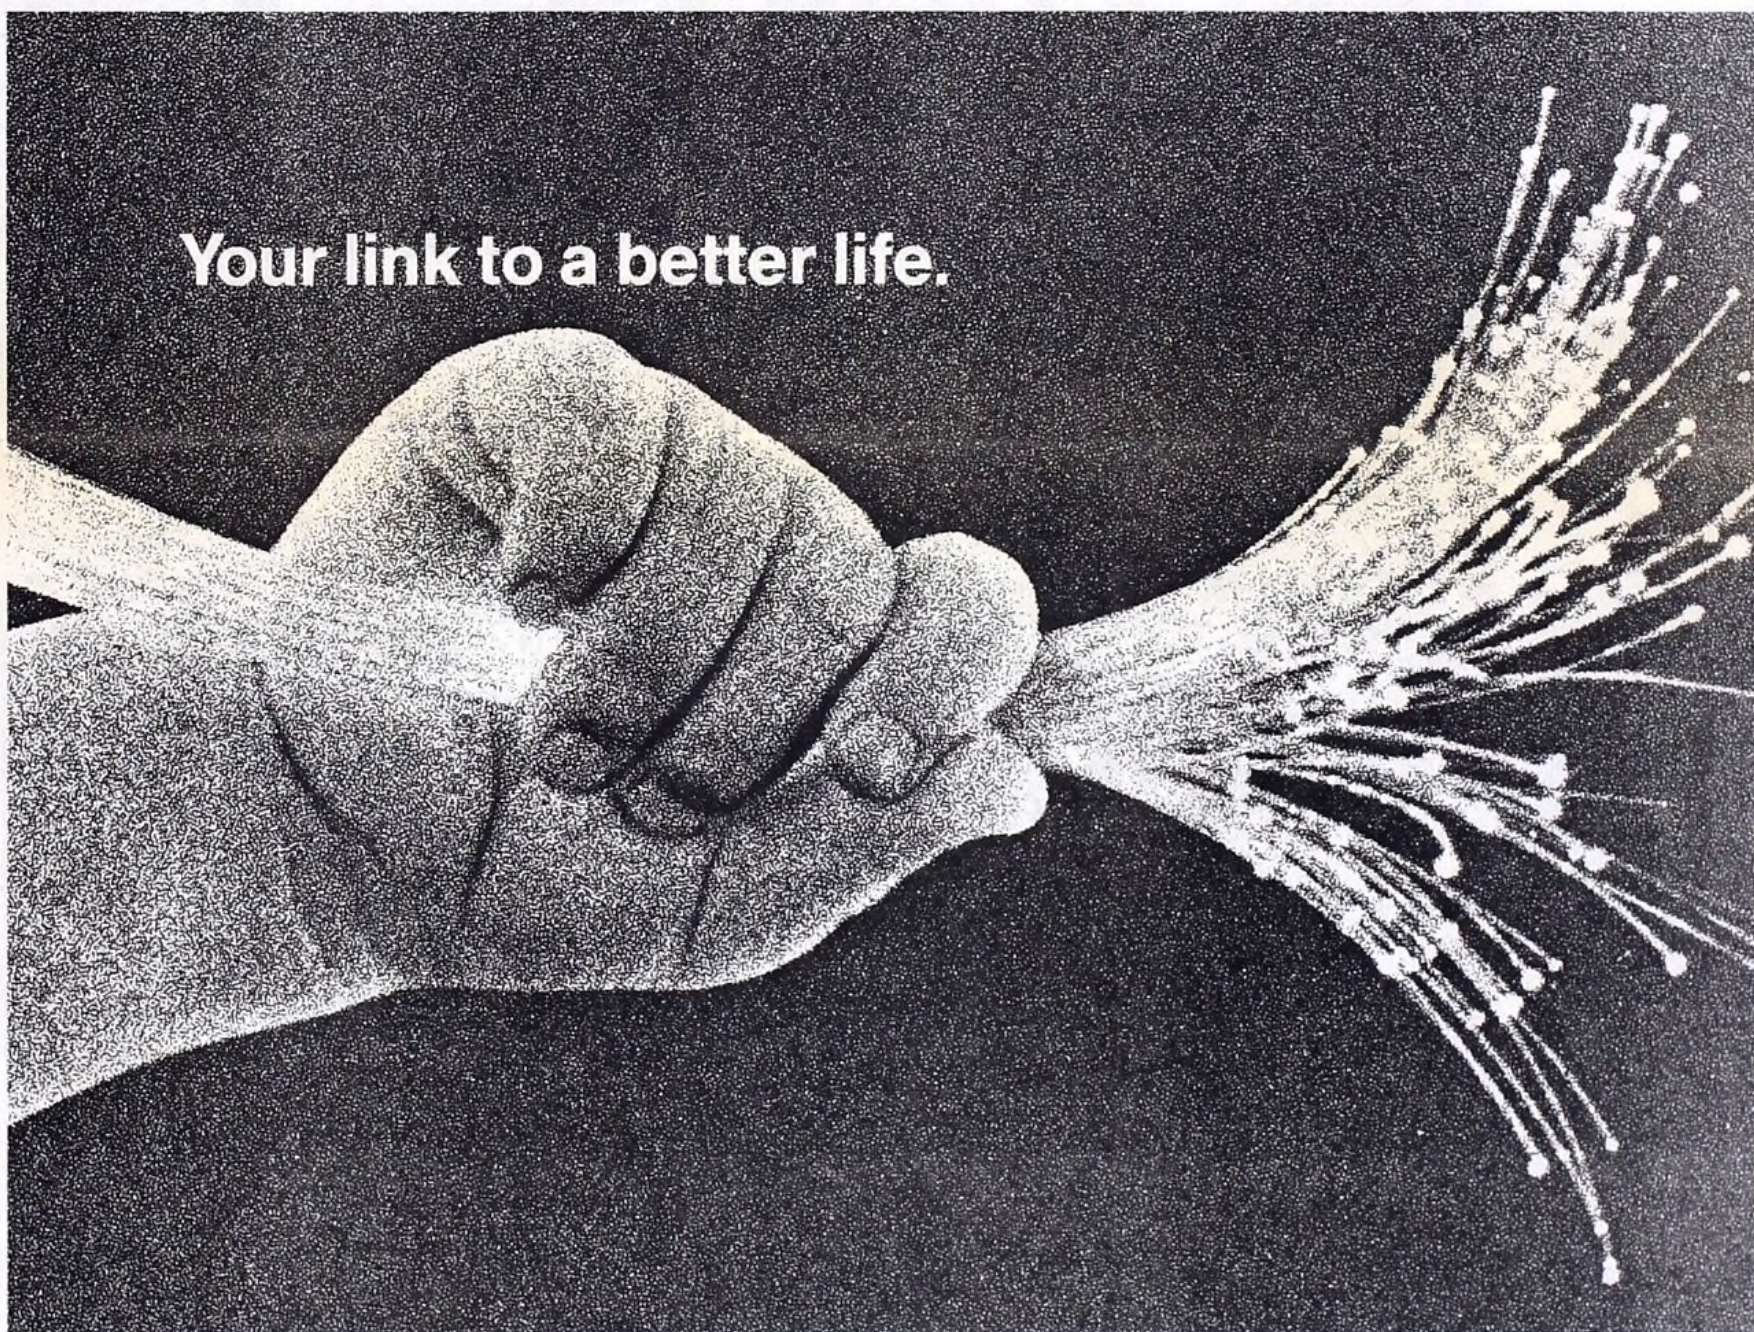

"It's been relatively warm. We haven't had a zero temperature - not counting wind chill factors - for two years," Dent said. "Maybe, we'll have more snow this year."

Dent does not look for weather predictions from the behavior of the animals at the park.

"People say if the squirrels are fat there will be a hard winter, but all it means is that the squirrels ate well in the summer. If you eat well, you get fat," Dent said. "Also, people predicted a cold winter for this year because the starlings and blackbirds left early. However, the robins are right on schedule."

Dent said people have been looking for some significance about the lack of large flocks of migrating Canada geese at the park.

"The past seasons were very wet. Consequently, water is standing everywhere, and the geese aren't all gathered at Lake Erie or another body of water. In addition, the wet weather interfered with the gathering of corn, so there is corn left in farmers' fields for them to feed on," the naturalist said. "You may not see a lot of geese gathered in one place, but you'll see flocks of them all over where there is standing water."

Animals enjoy donated feast for the holiday

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

More than 80 animals will enjoy Thanksgiving dinner this year thanks to the donation of 35,000 pounds of food by Hill's Science Diet Dog Food. The manufacturer donated the food in an effort to aid in the feeding of the animals housed at Humane Society Shelters in Detroit, Westland and Rochester Hills.

And anyone looking for some place different to shop during the holidays, should stop by the Humane Society in Westland.

A new dog or cat can be a good gift to buy someone on your list, according to Laurie Bergevin, adoption counselor at the Westland branch of the Michigan Humane Society.

And for those animal lovers who already have a pet, a trip with their animal to the Humane Society to see Santa Claus and to have their picture taken with Santa Paws might be a perfect gift.

Santa Paws photos will be taken from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nov. 29 and again from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Dec. 13.

"We try to do all kinds of things a couple of times a year," Bergevin said. "This way we can raise some money and it is also so people become more familiar with the Humane Society."

Another fundraiser planned for the holidays is the Bath-a-thon. On Nov. 29, area residents can bring their pet to the Humane Society and have the animal bathed and manicured.

"Bringing their pet to the Humane Society to have it bathed is much cheaper than taking the pet to a groomer," Bergevin said.

Fall is known as a slow time for people adopting pets, according to Bergevin. But during the holidays, the number of adoptions increases.

"Right now it's slow, but it will pick up again in the spring," Bergevin said. "We also get busy during the holidays too."

"But more people like to adopt in the spring or the summer," Bergevin said.

Adoption costs for a puppy are approximately $60, according to Bergevin. The dogs 6 months old and up are priced according to weight.

"The dogs come with all their shots," Bergevin said.

For more information about the Humane Society call 721-7300. The Westland branch is located at 37255 Marquette Road.

Numerous pets are available at the Westland branch of the Michigan Humane Society. Dogs and other animals at the shelter were treated to a special Thanksgiving feast. Hill's Science Diet Dog Food donated 35,000 pounds of dog and cat food to the 52,000 homeless animals housed by the Michigan Humane Society, Detroit, Westland and Rochester Hills shelters. Income census slated

Local representatives of the United States Census Bureau will visit selected area households beginning Dec. 1 to conduct the Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP), Dwight P. Dean, director of the Detroit regional bureau office, will announce Dec. 1.

SIPP is a continuing nationwide survey introduced in the fall of 1983. It is one of the largest in the nation, with approximately 60,000 households participating.

The Census Bureau publishes periodic reports with information from the survey. Subjects covered include the following:

- Jobs and earnings.
- The economic effects of unemployment, disability and retirement.
- How taxes affect personal spending.
- Participation in programs such as Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, food stamps and pension plans.

Information from SIPP helps policy-makers and administrators determine how well government programs are serving the public and how changes in programs and policies will affect the public.

Here are some facts about individuals and their health insurance between 1987 and 1990, based upon findings from the survey. (The sample size limits accurate reporting to national figures only):

• Twenty-one percent of all U.S. residents--proximately 50 million--lacked health insurance for at least a month during 1987.

• The average monthly total of uninsured persons in the final quarter of 1990 was 13 percent of the population or approximately 32 million.

• Twenty-eight percent of men lacked continuous health insurance between 1987 and 1989 compared with 25 percent of women because of higher levels of Medicaid and Medicare converge among women.

• Forty-six percent of Hispanics lacked insurance for at least a month between 1987 and 1989. Among racial groups, the percentages lacking for at least a month were 40 percent Blacks and 24 percent for Whites.

Moose serves turkey

On Sunday, the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 934 hosted a free Thanksgiving meal for 330 senior citizens. When asked if the meal was good enough, the reply was "better than that" from Hope and James Derr and Vince, Theresa and Earl Goodnuff (top left), who gave a "thumbs up" sign for the cooks. Survival helicopter may have helped save life in accident

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

Just hours after finishing Survival Flight training, Westland Fire Department rescue personnel had the opportunity to use the service which may have saved the life of a 41-year-old Westland resident.

Rescue personnel were called to the scene of an accident Monday afternoon on Newburgh Road between the railroad tracks and Cherry Hill Road.

The accident, which claimed the life of 17-year-old Melissa Thompson, and left Dennis Edwards and 16-year-old Brian Morrison in critical condition, was the first opportunity for the fire department personnel to use what they learned in flight training class.

"By the time the helicopter arrived, the people were already cut out of the cars and one was loaded in the helicopter and sent to the University of Michigan Hospital," said Assistant Fire Chief Mike Reddy.

Everybody was well satisfied after. We will certainly be using this service a lot more.

Mike Reddy
Assistant Fire Chief

"Since we don't have a local trauma center, normally we would have taken them to a local hospital. Then they turn around and patch them up and then send them to St. Joseph Hospital or the University of Michigan Hospital."

It is the elimination of the time at the local hospital and the ability to send the patient to the trauma center sooner that will save lives, according Reddy.

During the training, fire department personnel were taught how to set up landing zones which allow the helicopter to land at the scene of an accident, Reddy said.

Sgt. Pete Brokas of the Westland Police Department Traffic Bureau was overwhelmed while watching the landing Monday afternoon.

"It was kind of scary watching it land because of all of the wires which were on both sides of the road and running across the street," Brokas said. "(The pilot) had to hover above the landing zone, and when he took off he had to go straight up so that he wouldn't hit any of the wires."

Reddy said fire officials were pleased with the their first experience with the helicopter.

"Everybody was well satisfied after," Reddy said. "We will certainly be using this service a lot more."

Hazardous waste facility opposed

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Environmental concerns have prompted the Van Buren Township Board to adopt a resolution opposing the siting of a 400-acre toxic landfill in nearby Augusta Township.

Envotech, Inc., is seeking to construct the hazardous waste complex which will include a landfill, companion incinerator and injection well in Washtenaw County.

The proposed landfill site has been mapped as a "fragile lands" area unsuitable for landfilling of any type of materials by the Hazardous Waste Disposal Subcommittee of the Washtenaw Board of Commissioners, and both the Environmental Protection Agency and Washtenaw County have voiced disapproval of the land disposal of toxic wastes.

"The proposed facility has the potential to severely impact the residents of Van Buren Township," said township Environmental Manager Ray Striz. "For example, airborne particulates escaping from the incinerator could have a greater impact as they are carried away from the site. Concentrations might be greater at ground level in portions of our township than the areas closer to the facility."

"In addition, a regional co-operative effort is proper and promises a greater chance of success in opposing these types of answers to hazardous waste disposal. As we are all aware, pollution does not recognize political boundaries," Striz said in his recommendation for passage of the resolution.

Van Buren Township Supervisor David Jacques expressed concern about the injection wells which would place the hazardous materials far below the land surface, and possibly affect the natural ground water supply.

"We also have some concerns about airborne pollutants which can contaminate the inland waters and Great Lakes," Jacques said.

Associated Newspapers 1992 All-Area Football team

Derek Besco

One of the sparkplugs that made the Rocket offense go, Derek Besco made the "big catches" that made Westland John Glenn a winning team. Derek hauled in six touchdowns for the Rockets, which won their first seven games, including the divisional title.

Westland John Glenn

Mike Grube

A center who was groomed to play tackle on defense, Grube is a three-year varsity starter for Coach Dan Henry and the Romulus Eagles. His credentials include 23 solo tackles and 48 assists and three fumble recoveries. "You can't say enough about this kid," noted coach Dan Henry.

Romulus Eagles

Alex White

One mammoth reason Robichaud posted a 7-1 won-lost record was the superlative performance turned in by White. A 6-11, 360-pound lineman whose presence intimidated the opposition, White is quick for a big man, according to coach Bob Yauck.

Robichaud Bulldogs

Ramzy Saleh

Also a two-year starter, Saleh earned all-Wolverine "A" Conference recognition as a tackle on offense. The sturdy 5-10, 260-pound senior gridded helped the Zebras string together seven straight victories after dropping their first two to capture a conference title and a berth in the state playoffs.

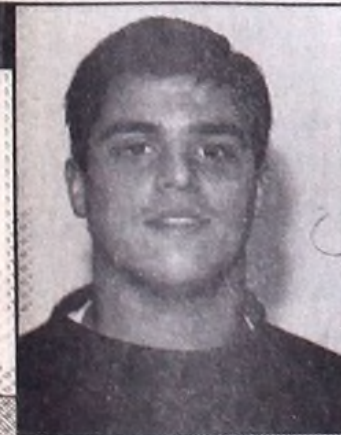

Wayne Memorial Zebras

Matt Dimitrievski

A two-way performer, Dimitrievski anchored the line on offense and also was a tackle on defense. The 5-10, 215-pound senior co-captained the Rockets during the 1992 campaign. "You can count on him for completing his assignments 100 percent of the time. He had an excellent year," said Glenn coach Chuck Gordon.

Westland John Glenn

Jason Hughes

Leading the Tiger sweeps, Hughes provided the muscle that cleared the way for Tiger ballcarriers. The 6-1, 210-pound rugged senior, like his two teammates Al Barnett and Daryl Montie, was selected to the last All-Wolverine "A" Conference team.

Belleville Tigers

Andy Szydlowski

Although sidelined for two games with injuries, Szydlowski still managed to prove that he is one of the best high school football players around. The 6-0, 200-pound senior was named to the all-conference team for the second year in the row and also earned a berth on All-Metro.

Plymouth - Salem Rocks

Coach taught Romulus how to win

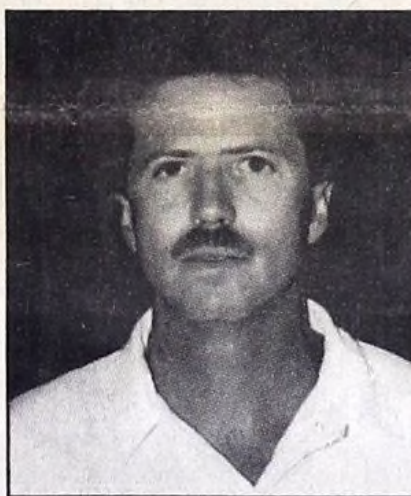

It takes time to build a winner. And it took Dan Henry four years to build an outstanding football team at Romulus High School.

From a 0-9 season a couple of years ago, the Eagles rose to an 8-3 won-lost record this year and made their debut in post season competition. They were one-victory away from reaching the Class A state semifinals and a trip to the Pontiac Silverdome.

How did this all come about?

"It came from a strong commitment from the seniors on this team who had dedicated themselves to win," says Henry who completed his fourth year as head coach - his 20th in coaching. "These kids took their lumps as underclassmen and they didn't bend or give up.

Each year they came back stronger and more determined to play and win. They learned the will to win."

In a year also marked with tragedy - all-around athlete Chris Evans was killed in a motorcycle-truck mishap, the Romulus team regrouped and played their hearts out for their fallen Eagle.

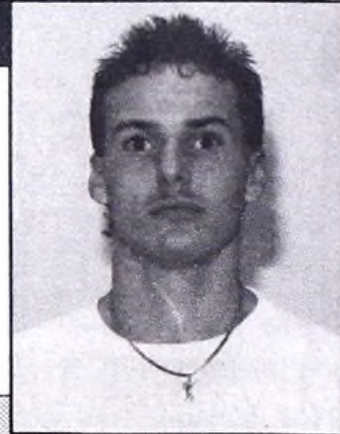

"The 1992 football season is one season I feel that will remain in the minds and hearts of many," said Henry. "It has touched so many lives."

For his achievements, the Associated Newspapers is honored to select Dan Henry as its high school Coach of the Year.

John Glenn
Matt Howton (defensive back), Jeromey Cosby (linebacker), Joe Kalep (offensive line), Tony Varcoe (offensive line), Brian Morrison (quarterback).

Romulus High
Yancy Yharborough (free safety), Rob Thompson (end), Rob Graham (linebacker), Phil Franklin (running back), Joe Kusibab (tight end).

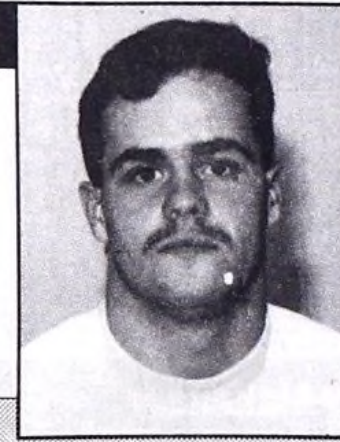

Inkster High
Mondor Purdue (free safety), Clinton Smith (linebacker), Jonathon Boatwright (offensive line), Mark Nichols (defensive line), Richard Cooper (wide receiver) and Robert Gatewood (quarterback).

Bob Bergeron

A three-year starter for Romulus, Bergeron led the Eagles to an 8-3 season and the Class A state playoffs. The 5-10, 160-pound senior quarterback made 51 percent of his passing attempts, connecting on 74 of 145 passes for 941 yards and eight touchdowns.

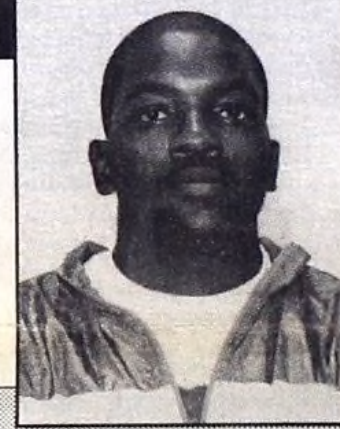

Romulus Eagles

Mike Orsette

One of the toughest runners to bring down, Orsette returned the opening day kickoff for a touchdown. And the 5-7, 160-pound senior continued to provide Robichaud with the scoring power that enabled the Bulldogs to win seven of their eight games.

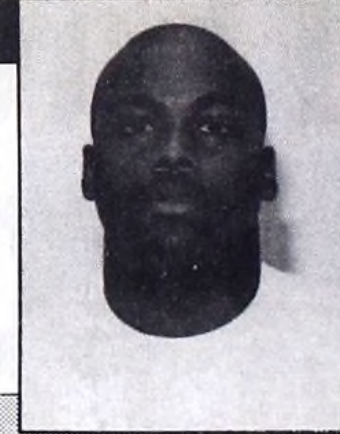

Robichaud Bulldogs

Al Barnett

Blessed with outstanding athletic talent, Barnett was a two-way performer for first-year coach Bob Lapointe. As a defensive end, the 6-5, 245-pound senior piled up 81 tackles, caused two fumbles and had eight sacks of the QB. As a tight end, the elusive Barnett had 10 catches for 203 yards and three TDs.

Belleville Tigers

Murdank Forrest

With more than 80 unassisted tackles and four fumble recoveries to his credit, 5-9, 175-pound Forrest proved that he is pound-for-pound one of the toughest linebackers in the area and Wolverine "A" Conference. "He always comes ready to play and he plays with enthusiasm," noted Wayne Memorial coach Chuck Howton.

Wayne Memorial Zebras

Bryan Besco

Able to span the field because of his quickness, Bryan had a superb junior season for the Rockets. Wise opponents stayed away from his side of the line. "Bryan has the quickness to get to the ball fast," noted Glenn coach Chuck Gordon.

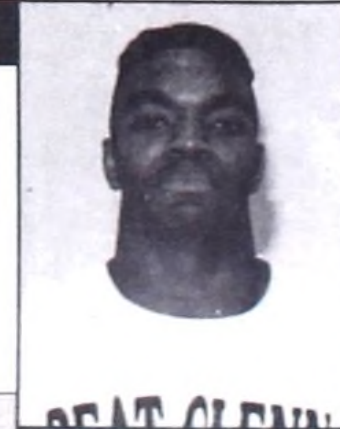

Westland John Glenn

Scott Helmsladler

A fast-moving player who can zero quickly on his target, Helmsladler was the center of the hard-core nucleus of the Rocks' defense. The 6-3, 215-pound senior was a co-captain who provided the club with leadership. His stats include 26 solo tackles and 15 assists and he also counted three sacks of the quarterback.

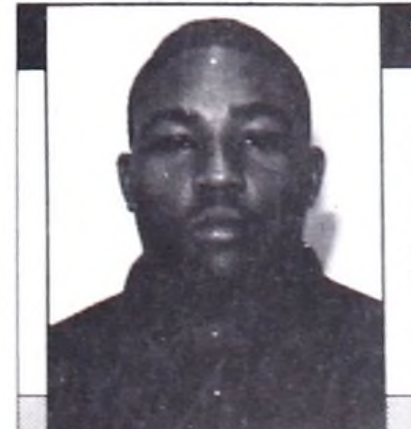

Plymouth - Salem Rocks

Bruce Calhoun

A scholar-athlete who boasts a 3.65 GPA, the 6-1, 195-pound Calhoun rushed for 1,131 yards, scored 22 touchdowns - 20 of those on rushes - to lead Wayne Memorial in the state playoffs for the first time. The two-year starter has several blue chip colleges interested in his athletic talents.

Wayne Memorial Zebras

Terrance Carler

With a 1,200 yard season behind him, which included four touchdown runs, Carler is looking forward to playing college ball. The 5-9, 195-pound senior earned All-Metro recognition and was also picked on the All-SAC team after helping Inkster become a competitive team in 1992.

Inkster Vikings

Brian Helka

If you stopped Helka, you usually stopped the Romulus offense. But only three opponents managed to do that this year. The 5-10, 210-pound fullback led the Eagles in rushing with 806 with a 5.7 yard per try. He scored seven TDs and his longest TD run was for 40 yards.

Romulus Eagles

1992 All-Area Football team

Tim Mate

Team leader on defense as well on offense, Mate was a tireless hard-nosed player for the Wolverine "A" Conference co-champs. The 6-1, 180-pound senior quarterbacked the Zebras and was a defensive back. In the secondary, he managed to steal four passes and knock down a dozen more.

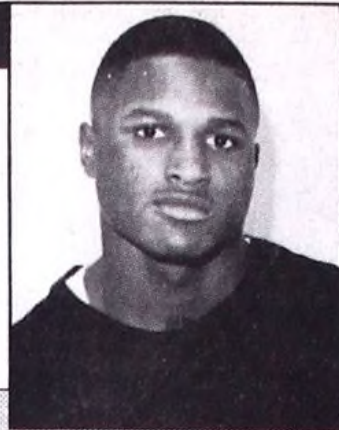

Wayne Memorial Zebras

John Miller

A two-year steady performer, Miller counted three interceptions during his second season on the Glenn varsity team. The 6-1, 167-pound defensive back also made very few mistakes. If Glenn opponents had planned a passing strategy against the Rockets, they quickly shelved it because of Miller.

Westland John Glenn

Kenyatta Orr

With over 100 tackles, six fumble recoveries and three interceptions, Orr proved he can break into any lineup. Only a junior who started as a freshman, the 6-1, 185-pound athlete has helped the Vikings and first-year coach Vic Calhoun turn the program around.

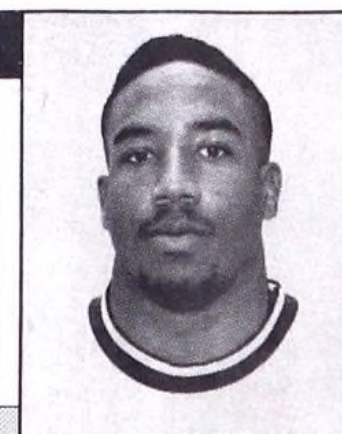

Inkster Vikings

Daryl Montie

A three-year starter, Montie's credentials are impeccable. An inside linebacker who running backs shunned, Montie racked up 110 tackles and picked off four passes, returning two of them into the end zone for touchdowns.

Belleville Tigers

Ivory Burks

A unanimous SAC Conference choice, Burks used his 6-1, 225-pound body to flatten Bulldog opponents. The senior linebacker averaged a phenomenal nine solo tackles and four assists per game, including four sacks of the QB. "Burks will be playing college ball," said Bob Yauck. "You can bet on that."

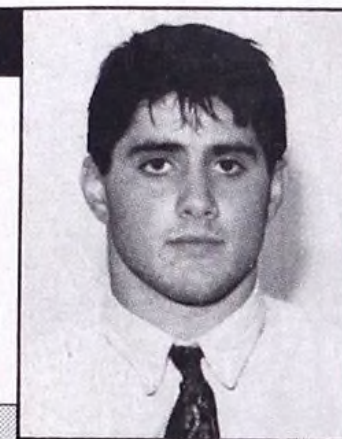

Robichaud Bulldogs

Jon Devereaux

Most colleges would be happy to have Devereaux's services right now. The 6-1, 191-pound Romulus kicker-punter has impressive credentials. He had 28 punts for 1,050 yards or a 37.5 per-punt average. Jon also put six punts inside the enemy 20-yard line, pinning them to the wall.

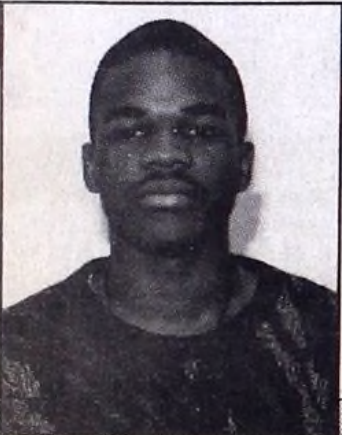

Romulus Eagles

Rob Shepley

He broke into the Salem starting lineup as a freshman, and Shepley has continued to hold down a varsity berth ever since. An inside linebacker, Rob also was plagued with injuries that he somehow managed to overcome. "Players like Shepley, Szydlowski and Helmstadler make it easy for a coach to do his job."

Plymouth - Salem Rocks

Barry Alexander

Inside linebacker Alexander is a 5-10, 155-pound dynamo that broke through enemy lines with lightning speed. During his senior campaign Barry is credited with 101 tackles, 10 of them solos, along with two interceptions. He also recovered three fumbles.

Inkster Vikings

Chuck Dudonis

A linebacker who played guard on offense which means that he was on the field nearly 99 percent of the time, Dudonis accounted for 20 solo tackles and counted 41 assists. He had three key tackles that produced large enemy losses.

Nissan succeeds with Maxima

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

Luxury and performance continue to define the Nissan Maxima in 1993.

Cabin additions to the flagship sedan, available in the sporty SE and GXE models, include the standard driver's side airbag, a new child safety-seat seatbelt system and the superior four-speaker Bose audio unit with cassette and CD.

Also Nissan engineers have added a neat quirk: reverse contrast analog gauges showing white during the day and an easy on-the-eyes glowing gray at night.

Interior space of the 1993 GXE edition tested, at about $26,000, is roomy, comfortable and soundproof. Driver's appointments are adequately modest and within finger reach, although a second automatic doorlock on the passenger's door would be nice.

Other standard features inside include a leather-wrapped shift lever, fore and aft headrest adjustments and electric mirror defoggers. The optional luxury package includes a power sunroof, power seats, automatic temperature control, and a leather steering wheel, hand brake and shift lever package.

Power and acceleration are decent with the standard 160-horsepower 3L V6 and more acceptable with the 190 horse, 24-valve V6. The SE is equipped with a five-speed manual overdrive transmission, four-wheel independent suspension and four-wheel disc brakes, plus power-assisted rack-and-pinion steering. The sedan has a firm, stable road feel combined with a wonderfully smooth ride.

Mileage is decent at 26 highway and 21 city, but like most upper-scale vehicles Maxima enjoys the taste of fuel at a half tank and down. Trunk space is vast, headroom is good and seating is more than comfortable.

Don't, however, plan to do much backyard work. Nissan vehicles are noted for complexity and a certain love for dealership-only mechanics (if and when needed). But, hey, for $26 grand and the celebrated quality, who cares?

Blackwell to host Mike Utley

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

Former Detroit Lions football player Mike Utley will be making a special appearance in Plymouth Friday afternoon.

Utley is in town to attend the Lions Thanksgiving Day football game. It was just more than a year ago that Utley sustained a career-ending injury which left him paralyzed.

Area residents who are interested in meeting the football player or receiving his autograph can do so from 1 to 3 p.m. at Blackwell Ford located on Plymouth Road between Haggerty and Newburgh roads, according to Blackwell Ford Sales Manager Len Gossman.

"We're expecting a pretty good turnout," Gossman said. "Mike was in town last week and he talked to a group of students at West Middle School in Plymouth."

During the NFL (National Football League) pregame show Utley will be featured, according to Gossman.

"It's been a year since his accident," Gossman said. "The special about him will focus on his rehabilitation and what he has gone through."

Gossman hopes that some of the fans will take time to look at the 1993-Ford line of cars and trucks.

This year the top selling Ford is the Taurus, which has remained popular for many years.

"Our business has been increasing each month," Gossman said.

He claimed the Taurus is second in sales to the Honda Accord.

"But we're closing in on them," Gossman concluded.
